Join our Growing Pediatric Cardiology Team

Who We Are

Pediatrix Cardiology is a national provider of outpatient and inpatient pediatric cardiology care of the fetus, infant, child, and adolescent, as well as adults with congenital heart disease. Pediatrix Cardiology is a rapidly growing service of Pediatrix Medical Group, the nation’s leading provider of neonatal, maternal-fetal and pediatric physician subspecialty services.

More than 90 pediatric cardiologists have chosen to join our team to pursue their personal and professional goals. Many of our physicians are leaders in their field, and some hold leadership positions in national specialty organizations.

At Pediatrix Cardiology, you can enjoy the best of both worlds: the clinical autonomy of a local private group practice coupled with the opportunities, administrative relief and clinical support that come from an affiliation with a nationwide network.

Variety of Practice Settings and Locations

Whether you’re a recent graduate looking to gain experience in a full-service cardiology clinic or a seasoned pediatric cardiologist looking for leadership opportunities within an established practice, we have an opportunity for you. Our pediatric cardiologists provide a variety of services, from fetal echocardiograms and 3-D ultrasounds to cardiac catheterizations and heart transplants. We’re also enhancing our programs in fetal echocardiography and adult congenital heart disease to meet patient care demands. With 18 practices in 8 states and the District of Columbia, you can choose the practice environment and location that fits you best.

Educational Opportunities

As a Pediatrix Cardiology physician you will receive a yearly continuing medical education (CME) allowance to use toward the clinical educational opportunities that best meet your needs.

You can also tap into numerous resources available through our Center for Research, Education and Quality.

Clinical Research Opportunities

In keeping with its commitment to advance evidence-based care, Pediatrix created the Center for Research, Education and Quality. The Center, led by Dr. Alan Spitzer, Senior Vice President and Director, is a formal structure for Pediatrix clinicians to participate in research, clinical education and continuous quality improvement initiatives, all supported by powerful clinical information systems.

Using Pediatrix Medical Group’s clinical research structure as a model, we offer you pediatric cardiology research opportunities to discover ways to improve patient care. Our electrophysiologists are formulating protocols for three upcoming research interests: long QT syndrome, catecholaminergic polymorphic ventricular tachycardia (CPVT), and Brugada syndrome.

Continuous Quality Improvement (CQI)

We are committed to improving quality care across our medical practices and, as a result, are developing evidence-based toolkits and systems that will help you systematically monitor, study, learn and implement change. As part of our commitment to CQI, each practice also has its own CQI officer.

You will have the opportunity to attend our Quality Summits, hosted periodically by our CQI Department. These summits offer lectures on CQI methods and current healthcare topics as well as specific updates on current CQI projects and toolkits.

All of our practices are provisionally accredited within the timelines set by the Intersocietal Commission for the Accreditation of Echocardiography Laboratories (ICAEL), meeting their rigorous requirements in providing the highest standards for echocardiographic diagnostic evaluations.

Clinical Systems

Our electronic medical records system, NextGen®, allows you to generate consistent documentation and data for research and education. This system also provides decision trees to assist you with the selection of appropriate billing codes. Our business professionals are enhancing our office-based pediatric cardiology practice software to create data capabilities to further support research, benchmark outcomes, sharpen clinical skills and improve patient care.

Administrative Support

As part of Pediatrix Cardiology, you’ll benefit from the expertise of our business professionals who handle the administrative functions associated with a medical practice.

We provide administrative support to our affiliated pediatric cardiology practices, including:

- Human resources
- Recruitment
- Credentialing
- Provider enrollment
- Risk management
- Compliance
- Legal
- Information services
- Business development
- Marketing/public relations
- Hospital contracting
- Public policy advocacy
- Managed care contracting
- Patient accounts/billing

Financial Support for Fellows

If you are a pediatric cardiology fellow or pediatric resident applying for a pediatric cardiology fellowship, you can apply for our Professional Development Award (PDA) program. This program allows interested and qualified individuals to pursue their professional goals while relieving some financial burden. As a PDA recipient you can receive $25,000 annually, in the form of a loan, for up to three years as a supplement to your pediatric cardiology fellowship salary. Upon completion of your fellowship program, you may have the opportunity to join a Pediatrix Cardiology practice. This loan is forgiven once you have met your required employment obligation with Pediatrix.
